The Day of Remembrance and Welcome was created to remember the 368 people who died off the coast of Lampedusa on October 3, 2013, and all the victims of migration in the Mediterranean. The 2026 theme “Voices of the Mediterranean” restores centrality to narratives often absent from public debate: migrants, survivors, family members, and host communities. An invitation to question which voices we listen to and which remain submerged, invisible, or unheard, as an antidote to simplifications and binary narrative.
